

History of George B. White Building

About a year ago a suggestion was made that because of all of the improvements and upgrades made to the George B. White building over the years; it would be nice to show the history of the building for the community to see and appreciate.

Recently that history, both in pictures and in narrative, was mounted on the wall of the main hallway at the George B. White building. Please stop by the building and take a few moments to look at the long history that this building has had in the community and the efforts, both old and new, of what it took to first build it and to keep it a vital part of the Town.

Many thanks to Joanne Wasson for sharing her pictures; Fran Menard and Kevin Barry for contributing to the narrative history; Randi Long for the time spent preparing and mounting the photos and Steve Barry for the idea that started this initiative.
